CREAM OF NEWS.

IF IT IS NEW AND TRUE THIS COLUMN HAS IT.

The G. A. R. Meeting Over—Boy Killed at Lexington—Thunder Storm Yesterday—Fine Pullman Exhibit—Many New Items.

Still More Muddled.

The city executive committee met in adjourned session Thursday night, but did nothing to straighten out the muddle in the second ward, except to recommend the withdrawal of both candidates. Mr. M. C. Forbes, who was nominated on the face of the returns, is still a candidate in spite of the action of the auxiliary or campaign committee, which threw out enough ballots supposed to have been cast for Forbes to reverse the result and declared Mr. J. D. Ware the winner. Mr. Forbes' friends claim the nomination for him and Mr. Ware's supporters insist that the auxiliary committee had the right to purge the returns and give the nomination to Mr. Ware. Mr. Forbes refused to take depositions and denied the right of the auxiliary committee to sit as a returning board. A great deal of bad feeling has been engendered on both sides and as the Democratic majority is only about 25, the indications are that a Republican will be elected.

The following resolution has been adopted by the committee: Resolved, that whereas, under the call we are of the opinion and decide that M. C. Forbes should be declared the nominee of the Democratic party in the second ward, yet, for the sake of harmony we recommend that both J. D. Ware and M. C. Forbes withdraw in favor of a third party to be agreed on by them.

This leaves the matter in as bad a shape as ever. The auxiliary committee holds that Mr. Ware was nominated and the executive committee that Mr. Forbes "should be declared the nominee." Unless some kind of a compromise is effected, neither of them can possibly be elected.

End of the Encampment.

Louisville, Sept. 12.—The Thirtieth National Encampment of the G. A. R. will be held in St. Paul in 1896, with Col. I. N. Walker, of Indianapolis, as Commander-in-Chief.

The Confederate Veterans, notably Gen. Gordon, Gen. Buckner and Mr. Waterson took part again in the receptions and camp fire, praising the good will that had brought peace in reality as well as in name.

Louisville, Sept. 13.—The following officers were elected by the G. A. R. to-day: Commander-in-Chief, Ivan N. Walker, of Indiana; Senior Vice Commander-in-Chief, E. H. Hobson, of Kentucky; Junior Vice Commander-in-Chief, S. G. McGrover, of Washington; Surgeon General, J. B. Whiting, of Wisconsin; Chaplain, T. C. Riff, of Utah.

All officers have been elected and, while Commander-in-Chief Walker has not publicly pronounced it, Gen. Irvine Robbins will be named as Adjutant General.

The following is the first official order to be issued by Gen. Walker: Louisville, Ky., Sept. 13, 1895 General Order—No. 1.

Having been elected Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic at the Twenty-ninth National Encampment held at Louisville, I hereby assume command. Headquarters will be established at Indianapolis, Ind.

Base Ball Boys' Disband.

The local ball team has been disbanded and the boys will leave for their respective homes this week. A benefit was given them at Athletic park yesterday afternoon and a large crowd turned out at the entertainment. The proceeds were given to the members of the club. The program consisted of long ball throwing, high jumping, a sparring match, game of ball and other athletic exercises. The members of the Hopkinsville team were divided into two ball games was played, some of them being on both sides. The entertainment was highly enjoyed by all.

Crowned by a Freight Train.

Mack Moore, aged about 15 years, a son of Esquire Moore, of Morton's Gap, was so badly mangled by a freight train last Thursday afternoon that death resulted in a few minutes. Young Moore had been in the habit of jumping on and off moving trains while switching at that station. On this occasion he missed his footing and fell under a car, the wheels passing over both legs and one arm. He was seen to fall by some trainmen and when found was lying partly under the wheels, horribly crushed.

In a wreck on the C. & O. Engineer Belty and Fireman Madden and Crutchfield, the latter of Louisville, were fatally hurt Friday morning. The wrecked train was a heavily loaded freight and the catastrophe was caused by spreading rails.

FIVE ROUNDS.

1. All Featherweight Bradley Can't Stand of Heavyweight Harlin. [Winchester Democrat.]

The great political pugilistic contest was abruptly finished at Eminence by W. O. Bradley throwing up the sponge and leaving P. Wat Harlin undisputed master of the field. The following is an account by rounds:

Round 1.—Both contestants spring into the ring at the call of time, Harlin wearing his same old emblem, the rooster—while Bradley sported his new and untired one, the log cabin and coon skin. Each man came up smiling and looked confident. Harlin led off with his "new silver stroke," but failed to land, while Bradley as a return, countered and delivered a full "gold-rib-roaster," which fell with telling effect upon Harlin's unprotected side. Each man then fought shy, looking for an opening until the gong sounded. Bradley's stock goes way up after this round and betting all in his favor.

Round 2.—Both men came up smiling, Harlin looking better than in the beginning. Bradley leads for Harlin's "record," but fails to land and is in return treated to one of Harlin's old time "honest knock down arguments." Bradley leads again but fails to land, while Harlin plants a well-directed blow on Bradley's "wind bag and bluster." Gong Harlin's stock goes up and the betting about even.

Round 3.—Harlin comes up first with one of his old time smiles while Bradley seems a little groggy. Harlin assumes the offensive with Bradley running and falling down to avoid punishment. Harlin presses the fight by landing on Bradley's "wind" several times. Bradley tries to "duck" and "bodge," and seems to be playing for time. Betting 3 to 2 in favor of Harlin.

Round 4.—As time is called Bradley steps forward, plainly showing the effects of the severe blows which Harlin had been dealing him, and leads with one of his old "misstatements" which Harlin gracefully parried and then in rapid succession lands blows of "truth and honesty" which so stagger Bradley that he did it, it would be the end of Bradley. Everything is Harlin and the betting 2 to 1 that Bradley will not last eight rounds.

Round 5.—Harlin shows up smiling with a secret, while Bradley is so weak and groggy from the effect of his severe punishment of the last two rounds, that he is scarcely able to stand. Harlin proceeds with his annihilator and pounds Bradley with "honest statements, truth and facts" all around the ring. Bradley makes weak attempts to defend himself, but no purpose. Bradley is evidently licked and seems to know it. Betting 50 to 1 on Harlin, but none taken.

Round 6.—Bradley comes to the scratch a badly bruised and severely punished man, while Harlin seems fresher than at any stage of the game. Bradley attempts to make a lead but catches sight of the cut on Harlin's eye and drops out of the fight forever. Godfrey Hunter throws up the sponge.

A Heavy Docket.

The fall term of circuit court begins in this city next Monday for a six weeks' session. Last Friday was the last day for the filing of suits and 109 new suits have been docketed—55 common law and 54 equity. There are also on the docket 169 commonwealth cases, continued from the last term, 277 equity cases and 31 common law cases. This makes a grand total of 586 cases to come up for a hearing at this term.

Handsome Block To Go Up.

As mentioned last week, Ragsdale, Cooper & Co. will build up the front of their warehouse square, vacant 100 feet back, with a fine block of three story business houses. The three northern rooms will be stores and the southern half of the block will be devoted to business offices. The corner room on Tenth street will be occupied by a hardware store. This makes a grand total of 586 cases to come up for a hearing at this term.

The Locals Won Everything.

The games of ball last week with the Maysville team closed the season with the Local nine. During the season the Locals played 58 games, winning 28 of them, or 50 per cent. Below we give the games as they were played, with the result of each:

NEXT WEEK THE TIME.

THE EDITORS ARE COMING TWO HUNDRED STRONG.

Landlord Hodges Will Spread Himself at the Banquet—The Committee Closing up Unfinished Matters this Week.

The press convention is now the talk of the town. It will be the big event of the year and everybody is looking forward to it with pleasurable expectancy. Nearly all of the 200 seats reserved for local subscribers have been taken at the banquet and the indications are that almost as many press people will be on hand.

A meeting was held last night to appoint special additional committees as were needed. The badges ordered for the editors are the handsomest ever used by the association. They are on blue ribbon and to each badge is suspended a circular pastel representation of "The Old Kentucky Home," handsomely mounted.

Handsome Sam Compton, of Madisonville is down with typhoid fever and cannot be on hand.

Among those who were here in 1878 who are again expected are Col. J. Stoddard Johnson, an honorary member, and Emmet G. Logan, J. W. Hopper and W. P. Walton. The veterans will not be numerous, but they will find enough of the old fellows to make the reunion a very pleasant affair.

Pembroke Gleanings.

PEMBROKE, Sept. 13.—The death of young Bettiker, the photographer from Southern Ohio, which occurred on the night of the 18th inst. has cast a gloom over the entire community. The young man came here with Mrs. Lillian Richards, who on the death of her husband at Youngstown, O., last May, returned to her former home at this place. Young Bettiker it seems had been associated with Mrs. Richards in the photograph business and came with her to assist her in her business here. During his brief stay here he had made a most favorable impression on all, as a young man of sober habits, business integrity and Christian character. About ten days ago he was stricken down with a malignant type of fever and though he had the best medical help and the best of nursing, he grew worse daily until death ended the struggle. His aged father in Ohio was informed of his condition and was too feeble in heart to come to his bedside. His affianced bride, a young lady of great spiritiveness however, came several days before his death and was assisting in her ministrations to the last. His body was interred temporarily in the cemetery here, the weather being too warm to successfully transport it to his home in Ohio at this time.

The farming community are busy cutting tobacco. The crop is unusually large and as a general thing is in first class condition. The yield is immense and will tax the barn accommodations to the utmost to house it.

Jernigan & Co. have distanced competition in the Wool market by machines during the past season. This firm is constantly enlarging its business.

Mitchell & Moore are doing a thriving business in their new livery stable, blacksmith and wood work enterprise.

Dr. Payne has associated with him in this city, Dr. Moore of Tennessee, a physician of large practice and wide experience in the profession. He will move his family here the first of next month.

Dr. Lackey and son have bought Dr. Morrison's residence and will after New Year be associated in the practice of medicine here. Dr. Morrison is a native of this city and will hereafter practice his profession.

Mr. E. A. Hall and wife left last Thursday for Texas, where they will spend some time visiting relatives. The next morning they will visit the Atlanta Cotton Exposition.

Miss Laura A. Phillips left Friday for Conway, Ark., where she will resume her work as directress of music in the Central Baptist Female College at that place.

Miss Alma Payne is succeeding well with her select school for girls. Her father, who is now on his way to friends in Russellville.

Miss Nellie Graves has entered school at Bowdoin college, Nashville.

Lightning strikes a Tree.

During the thunder storm yesterday afternoon a lightning struck a tree in Dr. W. M. Hill's yard, about a square from this office. The current first struck the electric light wire near Forbes & Bro's. and followed the wire to a tree at Dr. Hill's gate, down which it was conducted to the ground. The tree was kindling and the crash of thunder terrific. The telephone bells in many offices were rung by the same disturbance.

Pullman's Atlanta Attraction.

Last Friday afternoon a train of cars passed through this city enroute from Chicago to Atlanta, which will probably be the largest and finest individual exhibit destined for the International Exhibition. The contribution was the group of six magnificent Pullman cars, shown at the World's Fair in Chicago, probably the most gorgeous coaches ever built for railroad purposes. The exhibit includes the composite car Marchess, dining car La Robida, sleeping car America, compartment car Ferdinand, observation car Isabella and parlor car Santa Maria.

The Remarkable Career of James Wylie, of Scotland.

Known All Over the World as the "Herd Laddie"—His Success in Europe, America and Australia Astonished All Players.

The most famous checker-player in the world is James Wylie, a Scotchman, now in his seventy-first year, who has been playing for "as shullen a game, ye ken," nearly sixty years, and is still able to beat almost everybody. He was famous as a player in Scotland when he was only a boy, and was first called the "Herd Laddie." His peculiar title has caused thousands of people to believe that Wylie was once a shepherd.

Wylie was born in the Piers Hill barracks, near Edinburgh, in March, 1820, his father being at the time a sergeant major in the Scots Greys. The earliest recollections of the old man are those of life at the barracks. He was apprenticed to a weaver in Kilmarnock, Ayrshire, when a mere boy, but his remarkable ability in draughts was recognized in time to prevent him from learning the weaver's trade. When he was fifteen years old he had beaten everybody who could be induced to play the game with him in Kilmarnock. Mr. Porteus, a well-to-do doctor, took the boy with him to Edinburgh, where many matches at draughts were being played. The game was then popular in Scotland, as it still is. Mr. Porteus began a match with Mr. Brertram, a player of local reputation. After two or three games he had been played, Mr. Porteus said he had business to attend to.

"Let my herd laddie play for me," he said. Mr. Brertram consented, and began to play with young Wylie. The next day the fame of the "Herd Laddie" was spread in the city, as he had won fifty-nine games from Mr. Brertram, who had been able to get only one draw. It was not long before all Scotland had heard of Wylie, and he had been called the "Herd Laddie" was so fastened upon him as to cling for life. His fame was increased by a number of matches with

JAMES WYLIE.

Prof. Andrew Anderson, Robert Macdonald and other celebrated players, who first defeated him and then were beaten by him.

For many years Wylie went about the country peddling as a way to a regular business and playing checkers for money against all comers. For more than twenty years he has been traveling about the world, charging a "challenger" for every game played with him, and occasionally contesting matches for stakes, which he usually has won. He came to this country in 1873, and played over 11,000 games of checkers, of which he lost less than 50. In 1881 he again visited America, and won 17,000 out of 19,317 games, a title of 1,782 and losing only 106. As he charged Americans 35 cents a game for the privilege of playing with him, he must have earned a tidy sum. In this country he played matches with C. Barker, of Boston, C. A. Freeman, of Providence, and the late R. D. Yates, of Brooklyn, winning from Barker and Yates, and losing to the others. As Wylie has had highly successful tours in England and in Australia, it is believed that he has acquired a name for himself.

Wylie claimed the title of "champion draughts player of the world" until last year, when he was beaten by James Ferris, a much younger Scotch player, in a match of ninety games, of which Ferris won thirteen and Wylie six, the remaining games being drawn. After the match, which had been decided surprisingly, "I doct I'm too old for draughts," but since then he has played thousands of games, and has made remarkable scores in many places in Scotland. He has often been called "close" and "canny," and he has seldom failed to win matches on which he has been staked much "allier." In late years his hearing has been extremely dull, but his eyes are still keen. He talks with a broad Scotch accent when he has anything to say, but, like many other experts in the "silent game," he is inclined to be taciturn. He has been temperate and careful in his habits during his long life, although he has been roving from place to place almost continually.

Soldier of a Blacksnake.
A blacksnake near Limerick, Ireland, having been worsted in a fierce battle with another serpent of a slightly different species, trailed away in deep dejection. Finally, as it dragged itself along, closely watched by Patrick McLaughry, a resolution seemed to rise in the mind of the defeated snake. Grasping firmly with its mouth a small stone it climbed a tree and presently hung by its tail from a horizontal limb. Next it began to whirl about the limb with frightful rapidity. Longer and longer its body stretched under the centrifugal stress, until, with a last, long effort, the snake's body broke in halves, the weighted head and neck flying to a considerable distance, while the tail remained clinging to the limb of the tree.

A Feast of Commemoration.
The experiment has been lately tried of sending briquettes, or fuel cakes, made from coal dust and waste, from Belgium to East India.

Many Are of the Opinion That a Horse

Do horses weep? It is a question discussed by the Admiralty and Horse Guards Gazette. It tells us that there is a well-known case of a horse who wept during the Crimean war. On the advance to the heights of Alma, a battery of artillery became exposed to the fire of a formidable Russian battery, and in the course of a few minutes it was nearly destroyed, and horses killed and wounded, guns dismantled and drivers scattered. A soldier, however, who had apparently escaped unhurt, was observed standing with fixed gaze upon an object close beside him; this turned out to be his late master, quite dead. The poor animal, when a trooper was dispatched to recover him, was found with copious tears flowing from his eyes, and was only by main force that he could be dragged away from the spot, and his unearthly cries to get back to his master were heartrending. Approaches of the intensest kind, cavalry horses have for music, a correspondent of the Gazette writes that when the Sixth dragoons recently changed their quarters, a mare belonged to one of the troopers was taken so ill as to be unable to proceed on the journey the following morning. Two days later another detachment of the same regiment, accompanied by the band, arrived. The sick mare was in a loose box, and, making her way through the shop of a tradesman, took her place in the troop before she was secured and brought back to the stable. But the excitement had proved too great, and the subsequent exhaustion proved fatal.

HONOR AS COLLATERAL

A Loan Scheme Which Proved a Flat Failure.

Loans without security are a bait which usurers often hold out to the unwary, says the London Daily Telegraph, but a certain Lascar thought it might be made still more tempting by advertising that people could pledge their honor for a substantial monetary advance. Honor is inexhaustible, especially when it can be turned into hard cash, so the scheme bade fair to succeed. But on the face of it as a commercial speculation it was a poor investment. Its philanthropy was its chief recommendation, and therefore its author, a chemist's assistant formerly, with two companions, felt emboldened to imitate him. Eugene Buller, and sing in the streets to invite the charitable public to contribute to the Young Students' Friendly society, as they called their philanthropic loan office. The trio selected the Normandy coast for their tour, and duly advertised their philanthropic motives in the local press. But unfortunately Mr. Lascar preached without practicing. He had himself contracted a number of little debts on the strength of his honor, and his creditors were not quite satisfied with the value of that security, and when recently he borrowed from a friend a bicycle, which he at once handed over to a safe keeper who was dunning him for money, the bicyclist took an unkind view of the transaction, and lodged a complaint with the police, where the result was that the day philanthropist was placed in safe custody to meditate upon the worthlessness of honor in worldly transactions.

MODIFICATIONS OF SHEEP.

As Animals That Would Not Survive Were Extinct.

The sheep has undergone some modifications at the hands of man than any other animal. All the rest of our domestic animals have proved their capacity to reassume the habits of their wild ancestors, but no once tamed sheep has taken to a life of independence. This writes Dr. Louis Robinson in North American Review, is at first surprising, because many kinds, such as the Scotch mountain sheep, and those upon the high lands of Chili and Patagonia, manage to live and thrive with very little aid from their master. Yet it is found that even the hardy pampas sheep cannot hold his own when that aid is wanting. If man were to become extinct in South America, the sheep would not survive him half a dozen years. There are three chief reasons for this, and all of them are of peculiar interest.

In the first place, the sheep is, as a rule, a timid and defenceless animal, and at the same time is neither swift nor cunning. It falls an easy prey to the meanness of the wolf tribe. A single coyote or a fox never gives up the chase of a thousand in a few days. Then it is found that the young lambs and their mothers require special care and nursing. If they do not get it at the critical time, the flock owner will lose them by the hundred. It is a common thing in the Southdowns for the shepherd not to leave his flock day or night during the whole lambing season. Lastly, scarcely any modern sheep shed their wool naturally, in the same way that the horse sheds its thick winter coat.

Master Dismantled Wedding.

This remarkable item comes from Kennebunkport, Me. The married dismembered wedding was celebrated there recently, and was a notable affair. Mr. Manuel is nearly one hundred and ten years old, and his wife is nearly as old. The wedding march consisted of a procession of centenarians, there being a number of Kennebunkport people who were over one hundred years old. The children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren joined in the march. The ceremony was followed by an old-fashioned dance upon the green.

Not as English as He Was.

He regarded himself as very English, and he certainly was very young. He fancied that he cut a very imposing figure as he sauntered past the theater just as the matinee girls emerged on the street. But a large, coarse man who was going by spoiled it all by remarking in a loud voice: "Hello, Willie! What are you going to do with that pipe? Going to blow some bubbles?" And now there is one young man who will never again smoke a pipe on the street.

A Woman Said to Be Six Score Years and Four of Age.

Mrs. Lucy Alexander, a Versatile Colored Lady, Says Many Things That Impress One as Coming Out of the Nineteenth Part.

In Soap Creek Hollow, Keokuk, Ia., lives Mrs. Lucy Alexander, 124 years of age, and, according to the census returns, the oldest person in Iowa. On Concert street, in the same city, resides Mrs. Mahala Robbins, who, tradition says, is over 100. Both the old women are colored.

"Get married," said Mrs. Robbins, the other day, when asked her views on matrimony. "Course I wouldn't. Got 'nuff to do as it is. I gits a pension of twelve dollars a month, 'count my son who was killed 'long de wah, an' I lives on dat. Man he cut up de pension an' I'd hev to work. No, sah, I've all right as I is."

Mrs. Alexander, of Soap Creek Hollow, entertains similar views, and the old women are to all appearances amply able to get along alone in the world, and are good for many more years of life. Mrs. Alexander makes her home with Mrs. Lizzie Thomas, and here she sits in the sunshine and tells stories of a past age. Notwithstanding her advanced age she is quite well preserved and has full possession of all her faculties. She can thread a needle without glasses—never uses glasses, indeed, for any purpose. Her hearing is good, mind bright and active and health unimpaired. Within the past year she walked to the river to Oakwood a distance of nearly five miles. At times her memory is better than others, and she then speaks freely of old-time events, recounting the names of prominent generals of the revolutionary war and the early presidents.

Away back before the revolution Mrs. Alexander was born, a slave, in

MRS. LUCY ALEXANDER.
(Who is said to be 124 years old.)

Winchester, Va. Her maiden name was Page, and her master's name Miller Alexander. Her master served in the revolution, and when he returned home at its close she met him at the gate and carried his knapsack and accoutrements into the house.

Her earliest recollection goes back to the home of her master in Prince Edward county, Va. While living there, Gen. Washington stopped at her master's house, but whether it was during or after the revolutionary war she cannot remember. Later the family removed to Richmond. That was then quite a small place. In 1838 her master removed to Kentucky, taking his slaves with him. After some years he died there, and the interest of the other heirs in the estate was purchased by Miller Alexander, Jr., who brought the slaves—ten in number—to Hamilton, Ill., and set them all free. This was about five years before the commencement of the civil war. Miller Alexander remained in Hamilton till the close of the war and then removed to Iowa, where he now resides. He was a model master, as was his father also. None of her family were ever sold from the plantation, and all were kindly treated.

Mrs. Alexander's husband, Robert, died in Hamilton, Ia., in 1885, at the age of 164 years. The couple had lived in Iowa 10 years at the time. Many years ago Mrs. Alexander saved $100 and bought her husband from slavery.

Mrs. Robbins, of Concert street, says her mother died a few years ago at Keokuk at the age of 150 years. She loves to talk about the old plantation days, and the time when the negroes found themselves free.

"Day was ignorant as a cat," she said. "Day jist went wild with joy. Day danced an' day sung, an' day had a joyful time. O! mahster, he feel awful bad. He couldn't eat an' he couldn't sleep, an' he jist up an' he died. 'Nes some uv de niggers day got shot, 'case de white people day not ink sich carryins on. We all 'traid at night. 'Nes some uv de niggers day didn't have nuttin' to eat, and de gabner he sot up a shop and guv 'em perrissions. Dem what had money, day slip to de store by night time and what day want need."

Sixteen Tons on One Wagon.

The largest freight wagons in the world are now, it is asserted, made in San Leandro, Cal., for steam freighters in connection with the Union Pacific, the capacity of these wagons being sixteen tons each, and with sufficient wheel surface to sustain that amount without injury to the roads.

Pressure of Imagination.

A recent advertisement of a grindstone worked by a treadle arrangement states that a boy or man can work it, and while so doing derive great pleasure from the affair by imagining that he is riding a bicycle. What a fine elastic stretch of imagination that boy or man would have to have.

For Magistrate Fourth District,
WM. L. PARKER.

SPEAKING APPOINTMENTS.

DR. CLARKE'S APPOINTMENTS.
The following appointments have been made by the Democratic Campaign Committee for Congressman
Jno. D. Clarke:

Henderson, Monday, September 17.
Owensboro, Tuesday, September 18.
Haverhill, Wednesday, September 19.
Caldwell, Thursday, September 20.
Noyesville, Monday, September 24.
Speaking to begin at 1:30 p. m.

Jim Richardson is out for speaker of the next house and is going to come pretty near knocking the plum. Tony Carroll has been caught between a goldbug constituency and a free silver caucus and can't turn either way without facing defeat. The chances are that he will try to hold his seat and renounce his ambition to be speaker again. Foreo, of Shelby, will be the goldbug candidate in Mc-Creary's interest, but even a blind man can now see that Blackburn will organize the house. If Richardson has been selected as the Blackburn candidate, his election is practically assured. If he is running "on his own hook" as a silver man, he will prove a strong factor in the race, but his ultimate success would depend on the action of the Blackburn cau-sus.

Now both the busy country editor get out the suit he was married in some score of years ago and his helpmate polishes up the shiny places with shoe polish and adorns the bottom with deftly laid patches. He likewise calls through his editorial column for delinquent subscribers to pay up all arrears. For the time drawn him when he may lay aside his goose quill and set himself down to a good square meal at the Kentucky Press Association meet at Hopkinsville.—Owensboro Inquirer.

Mr. Jas. Breathitt, Republican candidate for circuit judge, completed his canvass of Trigg county last week and returned home Saturday. He made several speeches in the county. Judge Linn, who is holding court in Trigg, did not meet Mr. Breathitt on the stump as was expected. The Republican nominee is much elated over his reception in Trigg and is inclined to be boastful.
He says he will carry Trigg or make the county a stand off. Jim has, however, contracted the Republican habit of using his hat for a speaking tube.

Dr. J. D. Clarke made a short speech Saturday at the court house to a fair sized audience, filling the appointed at made by the state commission. His speech was chiefly an appeal for party harmony and united support of the state ticket. He touched briefly upon state issues, but did not enter into a discussion of either state or national questions. He will make several other speeches in the county before the election.

Mr. Jas. W. Harris, formerly of the Owensboro Inquirer, but now "Kentucky Kernel" editor of the Louisville Post, will be married Oct. 1st to Miss Ellie Taylor, one of Owensboro's best charming girls. Why didn't Bro Harris put it a week earlier and make the wedding a feature of the coming press convention?

Bradley made two stops in his recent last week, one at London and the other at Frankfort.

HARDIN'S APPOINTMENTS.

Elizabethtown, Friday, Sept. 20.
Hartford, Saturday, Sept. 21.
Central City, Monday, Sept. 23.
Caldwell, Tuesday, Sept. 24.
Owensboro, Wednesday, Sept. 25.
Henderson, Thursday, Sept. 26.
Brandenburg, Friday, Sept. 27.
Shelbyville, Saturday, Sept. 28.
Lebanon, Monday, Sept. 30.
Campbellsville, Tuesday, Oct. 1.
Greensburg, Wednesday, Oct. 2.
Columbia, Thursday, Oct. 3.
Burlington, Friday, Oct. 4.
Liberty, Monday, Oct. 7.

Louisville has never had such a crowd as the G. A. R. meeting brought last week. The jam was awful and the capacity of the city was taxed to its utmost. Aside from the victims of the caisson explosion, there were no lives lost as a result of the gathering. A portion of one of the grand stands fell down and skinned a number of legs and ankles, but no serious injuries were sustained from the accident.

Dick Tyler, our "sound money" candidate for lieutenant governor, has heard from his home county of Fulton. Luten, free silver candidate, received 414 votes to 289 for Speight, anti-silver. Hickman gave Speight a majority sufficient to nominate him in the two counties, but Hardin's running mate was very emphatically rebuked by his own people for his recent gold bug utterances.

The gold grabbers made away with $150,000 of our rapidly diminishing reserve Saturday in one lump and shipped it to England. Already another bond issue is being discussed and is inevitable unless Carlisle should change his absurd policy and pay the demands on the treasury in any lawful money he has on hand, when the borrowed gold is gone.

Those miserable scandal mongers, so called newspaper men, that have been accusing a crowd of "drunken Frankfort hoodlums," of preventing Bradley's speech at Eminence, do not attempt to explain why Bradley comes to Frankfort to make the first speech of his new series.—Frankfort Capital.

The political situation has undergone a decided change within the last two weeks and the tide is still set towards Hardin. Bradley's inability to meet Hardin in joint debate has greatly disgusted and discouraged his followers and Hardin's majority is now expected to be at least 20,000.

Sam Jones is amusing himself during the dog days by writing gold bug letters to such papers as will publish them. Sam should remember that the jack at all trades is good at none. Stick to your Bible, Sam.
Running the government is not your fort.

Peck Brooks, the Blackburn candidate in McCracken county, was nominated for the legislature Saturday.
C. B. Moore, of Simpson, for senator, and W. S. Wilson, of Logan, and C. C.
Norman, of Hancock, for the house; were also added to the long list of nominations who will help Joe.

It is a pity the committee did not put Hardin on Bradley's track and let him chase the Republican wind-bag from town to town and keep him on the run.

Dr. Clardy went to Dixon yesterday to fill his appointment for Webster county.

Queen Lil has been pardoned by the Hawaiian government.

The meeting of the Kentucky Press Association will be held at preparations are being made. Hopkinsville is one of the centers of which all Kentuckians feel proud and when her life string is pulled those who enter her gates are hospitably treated.

press boys.—Bowling Green Democrat.

pancy.

Has been my affliction from childhood.
It was caused by impure blood and every spring I was sure to have a long spell

me but little good and I became de-

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear.
There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube.
When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; none cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give $100 for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Obituary.

As the grand monarch of light ascended the stairway of beginning day and was spending his fury, as in tenderness he lay his golden beams, in soft folds upon the hills which were green in way, that he heard an angel came and poised himself over the happy home of Mr. J. Nick Thomas and rudely snatched that bright bud of promise from the shores of time and prematurely hurried her into rest. As a wife she was an angel of love and goodness, and made a Heaven of the home she graced.
Beauty and amiability were some of her many possessions. As a mother she was loving and brave, and combated with her destroyer that she might survive to rear her little one, the at risk of her own bosom. As a friend she was true, and many were the little acts of kindness and love she bestowed upon her host of admirers.

I knew her in her girlhood and knew her only to love her, and saw her when at the shrine of love she knew, and alas! when fever preyed upon the delicate form and left it ragged there, when tempest tossed and racked by pain 'twas there again we met.

When death had laid its way she lay in her spotless robe of purity as if in sleep and the lovely countenance only showed how quietly she met the inevitable foe. Her married life was as the life of the flowers and she died that new life might spring eternal.
Now, let us weep not for our Darling Lillian, but may we hope that gay birds of bright plumage will sing glad songs above her, may the clouds press lightly upon her delicate form, may the stars of Heaven shine so renewly down, and the dew of Heaven fall gently upon that spot to us so sacred, until that glad sweet morn-when the voice of God shall break the bolts of the tomb and wake the sleeping dead to life and immortality.

ker of Sacred Writ,' was rather a puzzling one, no one being prepared for the disclosure of..... as the good. 'His Ascent to Authority' was a most humorous description of the practical jokes played by.....

very fine style. 'His Decline and Tragic End' was most eloquently described by Mr. Herbener.

Do what such men
as Henry Clews, Jno.
Jacob Astor, Govern-nor Flower, of New York, Senator Jones
of Nevada and other

notably successful men before you have done--- and what they positively believe in to-day---that the very best way to invest small amounts of money is in suburban real estate.

On next Thursday, Sept. 19, at 4 o'clock I am going to sell the old

Thompson Property

on Seventh street, at auction in lots at any price the public will pay, and at the same time I am going to offer for sale twenty-five lots of Mr.
Bankhead Dade's and 10 of Mrs. Lander's that adjoin the Thompson property.

A forty foot avenue has been opened through these properties extending from Seventh to Ninth street.

You know that real estate is the best investment in the world for you, but you need a little "jollyng" up to get you to separate yourself from your money in exchange for good paying real estate.

Why put money in U. S. bonds, bearing only 4 per cent? Into bank stock, bearing only 8 per cent? Into railroad bonds and stocks, all of which fluctuate in value, when you can buy real estate that never fluctuates, but is steadily appreciating in value every day, and must, in the very nature of things continue to do so.

Don't hesitate any longer about that money you have to invest, but attend the

Big Auction Sale

of these valuable lots next Thursday and invest some of your surplus cash.

The sale will be without reserve and every lot will be sold at any price it may bring. The dwelling will also be sold at auction at the same time.

500 people.

"Is Kentucky a Doubtful State?" asks the Courier Journal in a standing advertisement reprinted in every paper in the state. So far as the Courier-Journal can make it, so far as damning the ticket with faint praise or a silence that speaks louder than words, so far as a deliberate failure to do its duty on the part of the leading Democratic daily of the State goes, it is.—Glasgow Times.

Mrs. Mary Potter, widow of the late Lewis Potter, whose suit for a settlement of the estate has been pending, compromised the case. Mrs. Potter received $896 and the property given her by the marriage contract. It is understood that Mrs. Potter preferred the compromise to long and disagreeable litigation and was advised by her attorneys to accept it. She will now sell the Tenth street residence and return to her former home in Elkton.—Bowling Green Democrat.

Jos. B. Simrall was nominated for Mayor in the second Democratic primary election at Lexington, Sept. 12, defeating Henry T. Duncan by eleven votes. The excitement was intense and fights were frequent. Police officers were active for Meyer Duncan, and one policeman was arrested for cursing a Councilman and another was kicked in the stomach in a free-for-all fight. Geo. Darvall, a Simrall supporter, was fatally shot in an elec-is hard to tell who fired the shots and the police have made no arrests.

Date of the Thompson Property.

On Thursday, day after to-morrow, at 4 o'clock R. M. Conway will sell at auction, in lots the old Thompson property on Seventh street. This is very valuable property and ought to sell well. It is the best land yet offered at auction and at every lot must be sold it will use golden opportunities for investments. A forty foot avenue will be opened from Seventh to Ninth street through this and Mr.
Bankhead Dade's land, which will greatly increase the value of these lots. The dwelling will also be sold at auction to the highest bidder.

Newspaper Man Injured.

Last Thursday afternoon, in Clarke-ville, Mr. M. V. Ingram was very badly injured. While attempting to board a street car he was struck by the shaft of a passing vehicle and knocked heavily to the ground, injuring his hip and head and bruising him considerably. He was sent home in a carriage and the physicians report him in no great danger, but owing to his age and comparatively feeble health the accident is rendered more serious. Mr. Ingram is a veteran newspaper man, one of the oldest and best known in that State.

ment in our beautiful city, am sure that you would call it "Chicago of the South". Over two hundred large buildings have been put up since the excitement of the International Exposition, so Atlanta will soon surpass any other city in the Union for beauty and enterprises. The Exposition Grounds are growing more interesting each day. The State Buildings will be something that every state will be proud of. The New York Building, almost completed, is very artistically built out of granite. In the Government Building we find the most beautiful Aquarium, rustic style, built in arch form, containing over one hundred species of fish. In the war department the statues of the most noted generals are found. In the Navy Department models of all the ships used in the Navy. In the Interior the most interesting feature is the advancement of the Indian Schools, one located at Carlisle, Pa. and others in Kansas.

In the Manufactures and Liberal Arts Building we find over 350 cases of foreign goods and three car-loads exhibits from California. The lake, "Clara Meer," now presents a most beautiful sight, containing an Electric Fountain that smiles on all passers with a most striking light. With this and the many Gondolas that are to play in the lake, we know that the scene will be attractive. Another attraction is the lovely roof-garden on the Forestry Building, where we find many curiosities. Now, my friends, trust that this will interest you and many will come to the Exposition.
